WASHINGTON, May 23.—Ohio Valley and Tennessee, local rains and partly cloudy weather, variable winds, stationary temperature.

UNINTERESTING

Column, unless you particularly favor economy buying, buying spring and summer raincoats from first hands direct, thereby saving the many unnecessary profits between producer and consumer. Clothing and the necessary belongings adapted to the requirements of your business, your profession, to order or ready made.

More than our usual showing in fine suits for young men are made and here. A hundred qualities for choice. Handsome plaids, cork-crowns, diagonals, checks and mixtures. For $3.50 we sell tolerably good looking, good trimmings and good sewing in men's suit suits.

For $5 we sell from several lines, men's suits in sack shape, suits you'd commonly pay $8 or $10 for.

For $6.50 we sell from mixed Kersey suits, the same in work, but better material, trimmings, &c.

For $7 we sell suits of dark mixed material, made well inside and out.

For $9 we sell suits of coarsely woven brown material. While this suit is none too handsome, the "day's" work is in it.

For $10 we sell worsted suits of several patterns, suits you might be deceived in were it not for our plainly marked prices. For the same price may be found dark mixtures and Scotch effects.

For $12 handsome corkscrew, worsted, fancy plaids and many others.

For $14, for $15, for $18, for $20, for $22, for $23, for $24 to $32. No house can possibly cope with manufacturers' prices.

What about measure? do we ever have a misfit? We do. We've had just two bad ones this season, the worst you ever saw. Do you other merchant tailors ever make a mistake? Again, is it worth one's while to have his suits made to order, aside from the name of having done so? Seven-eighths of the men and boys can be fitted right out of our ready made stock. The other eighth have got to be measured. A few dollars pays the difference here. "We don't want the whole world."

We are perfectly willing to make to order and guarantee fit, whether the want comes from reason, notion, or what not.

What about hats? Have we this early in the season established the prices? Do other dealers sell fine dollar straw hats in new shape for 50c? Do you find Mackinaws outside for a dollar? Do you want a hat anyhow?

Any want under the head of furnishing goods quietly supplied at wholesale prices. Our advantages of large dealing reasons for the uncommon low prices named.

Of the dollar knee pant suits and kilts, there are fifty-five to go this week; our best advice would be, come early. Open till eight in the evening.

Worthy immediate attention is the price at which fine G. B. Mills easymen trousers are going at, and the trousers themselves. Your choice among the whole line, $5 any day this week.

Wet weather garments, umbrellas and such are sold direct from the maker to the consumer. From one to several profits saved by coming to first hands.

A Curious Ending.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—A curious ending was reported yesterday to the trial of Dr. Henckell, for the murder of Conrad Burgmuller, at Kemer's saloon, in Paris parish, in March. The story, as first told, was that Burgmuller lost his life in attempting to defend his daughter from being outraged by Henckell and his wife. Thursday the young lady for the first time told the true story of the killing. She declared amid tears and hysterics that her father was in the act of outraging her himself when Henckell came in and in a struggle killed her father and wounded her. The jury immediately acquitted the prisoner. Yesterday the last act in the tragedy closed with the marriage of Dr. Henckell and Miss Anna Burgmuller, in the very court room where he had been on trial a few hours before for murder of her father. A large crowd was present and cheered the bride and bridegroom.

This wish will be carried out unless the Government of France, to which Hugo left entire control of the question of his burial, decide to have the poet's remains interred in the Pantheon. Breton, the French Prime Minister, proposed an appropriation by the State of $4,000 to defray the ordinary expenses of Victor Hugo's funeral. The proposal was at once adopted by the Deputies, by a vote of 415 to 3. M. ### Funeral of an Actress.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The body of the late Maud Stewart, the actress, was buried today, from an undertaker's establishment in the Evergreen cemetery. At the office of the actress's trust trustees it was said that the dead woman's real name was Grubbs and that she was a twin sister of the other actress named Stewart. ## THE NAID QUEEN.

The Opening Performance Next Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening this chaste and magnificent poetic creation, which was written expressly for its director, Arthur O. McKnight, the famous "Boy Oyster" of years ago, on which he has squandered a respectable fortune for its grand scenery, gorgeous costumes and wonderful mechanical appliances, will be presented for the first time for the delight of Springfield's people.

The extraordinary and unequalled character of this sublime allegory is alone apparent from the fact of its drawing for ten successive nights in Dayton vast audiences of the most intellectual and refined people of our sister city, who with one accord pronounce it the grandest, the purest and the most remarkable exhibition ever attempted in that city. Nearly four hundred of the brightest and best of Springfield's children and young people will take part in its presentation, aided by many of our leading vocalists including Mrs. Bakhaus, Misses Von, Quill, Simpson, Fultz and others, Mrs. Tatenbom, of Christ church choir, Cincinnati, has kindly consented to sing the part of "Naid Queen," and Messrs. Herbel and Byer of the church choir, Dayton, will sing the parts of the "boatman" and "queen's attendant."

Mr. Bickham, of the Dayton Journal, who has seen about all there is to be seen in the shape of magnificent entertainments both in Europe and America pronounced the scenery and tableaux of the "Naid Queen" unequalled in elabateness and splendor.

Springfield has indeed been highly favored in enjoying the privilege of beholding this majestic and costly affair, which is recognized everywhere as the finest entertainment ever offered for the delight of the American people. Its endowments from leading journalists, statesmen, judges and from noted clergymen of the country are of priceless character and warrant the belief that its merit is great.

The local expenses foot up not far from $2,000, and at the low rates maintained last evening audiences will be necessary to enable Prof. McKnight to come out whole.

Wage-Scale Conference.

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—After an all-day session the scale conference of the Iron Manufacturers and Workmen adjourned this evening to meet again on Monday. ## THE CREAM OF THE THING.

A New Carriage Enterprise—Pare, Wholesale Butter to be Made in a Model Creamery and Brought to Our Doors.

Butter! Everybody eats butter. What favors our warm flaky biscuits of crisp but tender breakfast cakes that they fairly melt in the mouth? Fresh, sweet golden butter! What so provokes us to anger and disturbs the peace of mind of the family until life becomes a burden as the strong, rancid combination of odorous matter so often pained off upon us for butter? It is a subject that touches our hearts and stomachs.

It is gratifying to know that by the enterprise of some gentleman in our neighboring town of New Carlisle, a first class creamery has been started to supply us with pure, wholesome butter made of sweet cream. They have placed their business here in the hands of Mr. S. A. Morrow, who will supply all grocers who may choose to handle the product of the creamery. The process of making is clean and pure. The cream is gathered from milk set in cans submerged in water, which seals the milk effectually from atmospheric influence, preventing any of the taints common to cream that is exposed. At the same time, the cover is so arranged that the heat of the milk in rising carries along the "ewy" flavor which condenses on the inside of the cover and following the inside surface to the water below. The cream is gathered in a careful manner and churned sweet at the new factory just built by the company. The officers are C. S. Forgy, President; J. Roland Stafford, Treasurer, and E. A. M. McGrew, Secretary. Messrs. J. I. Stafford, J. A. Collins, Wm. Scraft, and I. K. Funderburg, in addition to the officers above named, constitute the Board of Directors. The stockholders are men of reliability, and besides the ones named include such men as Samuel Hamlet, J. V. Forgy, Joel Forgy, the Schaffs, Quicks and others. They have employed for their superintendent a man who made the exhibition butter at the Ohio State Fair for two years past. The creamery is fully equipped with all the latest and best appliances and machinery.

The company have a splendid outfit of eight wagons for gathering the cream. Their butter will soon be on sale at all Springfield groceries, and we need only ask for "Golden Grain Butter"—the name they have appropriately given it—to be sure of getting a pure, sweet article without mixture or adulteration. The company cheerfully show visitors to their creamery the methods of manufacture.

Our State Guests.

To the Citizens of Our City: The Committee on Entertainment, upon which was imposed the task of providing suitable accommodations for the approaching State Convention, respectfully submit: That the hotel capacity of the city will be exhausted in caring for the delegates and alternates to said convention, leaving all visitors, clubs and committees of the State, and the members of the press without suitable accommodations.

The committee estimates that at least 1,500 people must be cared for outside of the hotels. It is, therefore, desired that all private boarding houses, and all citizens who have rooms to spare, and are willing to place the same at the disposal of our guests, should, as early as least as next Thursday morning, communicate with this committee informing it of the number of guests that can be accommodated; the terms upon which said accommodations will be made, and the street and number of the house.

Hoping that our citizens will respond with their usual generosity and assist in making our guests feel that they were never before so well cared for, we are,

Forgy and Joe Hooper who were enjoying themselves hugely when the officers broke up the little picnic. They were all taken to the station house and locked up.

Base Ball Note.

Mr. Bert Cross, vice president of the Lexington base ball club and superintendent of the Lexington city railway, came on Friday to witness the Lexington-Springfield games.

Manager Fisher expected to have the new uniforms for use yesterday afternoon, but the trousers were not received. They came up from Dayton last night.

Galvin and Cody, the third battery, were released yesterday by action of the directors, not because of their inefficiency at all, as they are excellent players and hard workers, but because thirteen men were too many and somebody must be released. They take the best wishes of the base ball fraternity here, who hope they will soon make a favorable engagement for the season.

The team leaves this evening on their tour, playing the Youngstown Monday and Tuesday, the Erie Wednesday and Thursday, returning here and playing the Frankfort Saturday morning (Memorial Day) and the Lexington in the afternoon. They hope to win a majority of these games, and thus take the lead in the race.

Owing to the disagreeableness of the weather yesterday afternoon the game of base ball between the home team and Lexington was somewhat delayed, and, in fact, it was decided by the managers of the clubs that the weather would not permit them to play. About half past three the sky became brighter, and the rain ceased somewhat, and Bowers, manager of the Lexington club and formerly one of the chronic kickers of last years Dayton club, slyly gathered his men under his wings, as an old fanatic hen does, and slipped out to the ground with what they called, and who names himself, Umpire Wilcox who has been decided by the people here as not fit to umpire a town ball played by school boys, and took their positions and he called the game and decided it in their favor 9 to 0, and at the same time it was raining and the home club appearing on the grounds. But they returned to play and left the grounds. Manager Fisher says he will fight and test the game to the very end before he will succumb to the cowardly act of school boys.
